

The Electrical Voice

It is a very delicate electrical current that carries the sound waves produced by the human voice over the telephone wires.

It reproduces these sound waves in their minutest detail and travels with almost the speed of light.

Sound waves travel through the air at the rate of 1,160 feet a second. Carried through the air at that rate it would take four hours for the human voice to cross the continent.

It takes one-fifteenth of a second for the voice to travel from New York to San Francisco, 3,400 miles over the transcontinental line of the Bell system, so that it may be said that telephonic communication from coast to coast is practically instantaneous.

ST. LOUIS BAKERS FISH NEAR CAPE

Fish Fight Shy of Bread Makers Till Their Third Day Out.

The party of American Bakery officials who came from St. Louis Saturday to try the fishing in this part of Southeast Missouri had less luck angling for two and three-pounders than they have had in angling for Supreme Court decisions against Attorney-General John T. Barker's anti-trust suits.

For two days they tried it and they "fished, an' fished, an' fished all day," but it was all to no avail. The third day, all of the bakers being good fishermen, they fished some more and got a well, what they got, that comes later in the story.

They arrived here early Saturday morning. The members of the party were: B. G. Shackelford, John Becker, F. H. Hohengarten, J. W. Hoerr, J. L. Hoerr and F. S. Freund.

They were the guests of William Wagner of Jackson, Saturday and for their first day's angling, they went to the Fordville. There they fished till late at night with the result just recorded.

Sunday they went to the Old Fairgrounds and were blanked again.

Yesterday the bakers began to think they were going to have to "buy" some fish to take home to the folks after all.

They became desperate. Early in the morning they found "Fish" Kempe. Here we are," one of the men declared to Kempe. "We have to get some fish. A jinks has been trailing us."

"Maybe our apparatus is too branched for these fish down in these parts, but anyway, we want a place where there are some simple-minded fish—that'll bite on anything."

"You understand, we have to get some fish! Now we'll make you a proposition," they told Kempe.

If you can take us to a spot where we can have any luck, where we can have the pleasure of seeing our corks under for once, we'll requite your services well. If you don't deliver the goods, no pay!"

Kempe has earned his nickname. He is proud of the "Fish" in front of the name of Kempe, and moreover he knows every nook and cranny that a fish inhabits around the Cape.

Moreover, Kempe has sporting blood in his veins.

"I'll take you up gentlemen, just clamper aboard my car. I'll show you where there are more fish than you ever dreamed of. You'll be thinking you are pulling 'em out in your sleep, and you'll pinch yourselves to see if it's true."

The bakers piled in their dunnage, their lunch baskets and all the appurtenances for a day's trip. Kempe cranked the car and they started.

Kempe pulled up at the Barr Pitts on the Rock Levee, a few miles south of town.

DR. J. C. HANDY MAY SUCCEED REV. HOLT

Church Committee Asks Bishop Hendrix to Send Minister To Cape.

The Rev. J. C. Handy, a well-known Missouri Methodist minister, is expected to be named by Bishop E. R. Hendrix as the successor to Rev. Ivan L. Holst, as pastor of the Centenary Methodist Church in this city.

A committee, representing the Board of Directors of the church, have requested Bishop Hendrix to name Dr. Handy, and it is understood that he will follow the church officials' request.

Dr. Holt will depart for Dallas, Tex., sometime this month, where he goes to accept a chair in the Methodist University.

Rev. Handy is known as one of the best pulpit orators in Missouri.

KNEHANS TO ATTEND CHURCH CONFERENCE AT PEKIN, ILL.

Attorney for Ministers Has Organized to Care for Those Incapacitated.

Referee in Bankruptcy Oscar A. Knehan today will depart to St. Louis and Pekin, Ill., where he will attend a conference of the German Methodist Episcopal Church. He will return to the Cape next Sunday night.

Knehan as attorney for the preachers of the conference, has formed a new corporation to take the place of the order known as the Permanent Funds for Conference Claimants for the St. Louis German Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

This society has been an aid organization for its members, who, when they have become incapacitated, have been given financial aid from the order. The members contribute annually to the treasury and the treasury now has between $40,000 and $60,000.

As the society has grown in proportions, the officers have encountered some difficulties with the handling of the funds and other legal matters so that changes in their organization became necessary. Knehan thereupon formed a new corporation to be known as the Preachers' Aid Society of the St. Louis German Annual Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

and scarcely before his companions could join him, his reel was about pulled out of his hands. It was such an unexpected affair, the St. Louisan hardly knew what was happening to him.

To cut the story short, the bakers, "fished, an' fished, an' fished all day" with a net result of 150 bona fide catches.

They were joined in the afternoon by Carl Bauer and Frank Hohler, who joined in the slaughter.

Yes, Kempe got his, too!

J. A. ARMSTRONG AN EX-JUSTICE IS DEAD

Paralysis Kills Well Known Jackson Newspaper Printer—65 Years Old.

Former Justice of the Peace J. A. Armstrong, widely known official and printer of Cape County, died at 7:30 o'clock last night at his home in Jackson of paralysis. The Judge was about 65 years old.

He had been ill for a month, but his death came suddenly. The Judge probably was one of the best known characters in Jackson. For many years while in Jackson, he had been a printer employed in both the F. A. McGuire and Kies Bros. shops there.

He was a Justice of the Peace in Jackson for six years. Likewise he was known in Jackson as one of the best all around billiard players the town had. His game, right up till the time he became ill, was considered phenomenal. He was an expert at the three-cushion game as well as straight billiards.

Funeral arrangements last night were not made as it will require some time to notify his close relatives.

The Judge is survived by his widow and four children. He has a married daughter, Mrs. Emanuel Milde, and three sons, one of whom resides in Indiana, and the whereabouts of the other two is unknown.

The Judge came to Jackson thirteen years ago from Rushville, Ind., where his parents settled in pioneer days in the Middle West.

HAZING HONEYMOON MAY BE MATTHEWS'

Scott County Newlywed to Take Bride With Him to Notre Dame.

Joseph L. Matthews, Sikeston's High School football star, who motored to Charleston Tuesday night and was quietly married to Miss Lucille Alexander, daughter of Scott Alexander, banker and large property owner, will take his bride with him as he becomes a freshman at Notre Dame University, South Bend, Ind.

Notre Dame University is one of those schools in the Middle West where a gentle "hazing" still is looked upon as being a good thing for freshmen. Consequently, young Matthews' friends in the Cape and at his home are wondering what procedure the sophomores at Notre Dame will take with a stripling freshman who comes to school with a bride.

Matthews and his wife will motor cross country to South Bend in a new six-cylinder machine that the bride's father presented to the couple as a wedding present.

Matthews' bride was graduated from the Charleston High School only a year and a half ago and last year attended a finishing school in Washington, D. C. Matthews, himself, was graduated from the Sikeston High School last spring. He was identified with many student activities there.

This fall when he finished his preparations to go to Notre Dame University, where he intended to go out for the football team, he simply could not withstand the separation from the young lady in Charleston.

Accordingly he motored to Charleston with a friend and managed to fix the whole affair up and had the ceremony performed by Dr. Lemon, pastor of the Baptist Church in Charleston.

He is in the edge of town. In the car besides Glenn, who was at the throttle, was De Witt Snider, John Ates and Charlie Bedwell. That no one was killed or even injured is considered a miracle by the neighbors who rushed to the scene of the wreck immediately after it occurred. The car, which was somewhat damaged, was the property of C. C. Penny.

Dr. John A. Malone and M. W. Swan made a business trip to Jackson Saturday.

The young people were entertained at a social at the home of Eugene Wilcox Wednesday night.

Mrs. Avis Walker and granddaughters, Bunney and Amy Nell Walker, spent Thursday in the Cape.

Jackson, Sept. 7.—After Mrs. George Hunter's attention was attracted to her home as she sat in a neighbor's yard last night by a series of ghost-like flickerings of the lights in various rooms, an investigation disclosed that burglars had ransacked the place.

An inspection of all the rooms, however, revealed that the intruders had taken nothing but their departure. That was through a wide open door in the rear part of the house.

The Hunter residence is partly occupied by the family of William Rose. The men were gone and Mrs. Hunter, with Mrs. Rose, were sitting on the porch of the Browning Hotel across the street.

Mrs. Hunter noticed the lights in the dining and sitting rooms switched on and off quickly in her home. She immediately went to investigate. She found no one in the place and heard no one moving about.

As soon as she had resumed her seat with Mrs. Rose, however, after having locked the downstairs windows and both doors, her attention was attracted by the similar flicker of the light in a bedroom on the second floor.

Night Watchman Masters was called and an investigation started. There were plenty of indications that someone had gone through the upstairs thoroughly, but Mrs. Hunter found that nothing had been carried away. The rear door stood wide open.

The Board of Education at its meeting last night decided to add another teacher for the second grade of the grammar school, as there are too many pupils in that grade for one teacher to take care of. The board will meet again Thursday night to elect a teacher.
